Chinese Delegate to Peace Conference Says Japan Is Substituted for Hun

CHINA PREFERS KAISERISM

Tai Chi Quo Declares Return of Old Conditions Better Than New Deal

New York, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Tai Chi Quo, Chinese technical delegate to the peace conference, replying to a statement by Yosuke Matsukata, secretary of that country's peace delegation regarding possibilities of Japan's early withdrawal from Shantung province said today:

"German rights in Shantung originated in an act of Prussian aggression and piracy, Japan in driving Germany out of China prevented China from participating in the joint Anglo-Japanese military operations against the German forces in Tsingtau. Japan just made it clear that she fought against Germany in order to replace Germany in Shantung.

"Although China was prevented by Japan from participating in the recovery of Kiaochow, yet in the actual military operations in the Shantung province the Chinese population suffered under hardships and immense loss as the result of acts of aggression and violence on the part of Japanese soldiers.

"China would prefer to have Germany in Shantung instead of Japan if that were the only alternative because Shantung is far removed from Germany while in the hands of the Japanese there is added danger to China on account of Japan's already strongly fortified possession in Korea and southern Manchuria."

COMPENSATION
CASES GO OVER
INTO NEXT WEEK

Kositzky Action and Suit Brought to Test Act Set for Today Are Deferred

Two supreme court actions involving the workmen's compensation bureau set for argument today have gone over until next week. The more important of these is brought by a Fargo employer to test the constitutionality of the act. He attacks the classification of all forms of employment except domestic and agricultural service and work on steam railways as "hazardous," and he also objects to the classification of insurance premiums. He employs two stenographers whom he must insure through the state fund under the provisions of the act.

The second action is one brought by William Lemke on behalf of the workmen's compensation board against Judge Hanley, whom the league attorney seeks to prevent by a writ of prohibition from hearing an application made by State Auditor Kositzky for an order giving him entry to the books of the compensation commission, which has been denied him by members of the board. Judge Nussle was absent from the district when Kositzky made his application, and he filed it with Hanley, in Mandan, as the next nearest district judge.

Lemke contends that inasmuch as the judicial redistricting act gives the fourth district two judges, and since Judge Coffey of Jamestown, the second jurist, was not absent from the district when this action was brought, Judge Hanley, who serves in the sixth district, across the river, is without jurisdiction.

The policemen, members of a newly created squad to curb motor car thievery, were searching for owners of a car said to contain rifles, ammunition and a quantity of nitro glycerine and had entered the dark hallway of an old building in the business district when the alleged bandits opened fire, and a running fight of several minutes duration began.

Monarchist Circles Believe House of Hapsburg Doomed—Charles Gets Out

Geneva, (Thursday), Sept. 4.—The Austrian peace terms have been received in Vienna with the greatest surprise and indignation, according to advices reaching here. It is believed that the Renner ministry will fall as a consequence. Monarchist circles consider that the terms have definitely crushed any hope of the return of the Hapsburgs.

Former Emperor Charles, who received the news from Paris soon after the reply of the allies was handed to the Austrian commission, has decided to leave for Switzerland.

Mr. Kositzky plans to draw upon corporations subject to this tax through drafts on their local banks, as the act provides.

YANK LEGION IS READY TO GREET
NATION'S CHIEF

Plans for Reception to President Wilson Next Wednesday Made Thursday

CONVENTION COMES HERE

Bismarck Will Have Honor of Entertaining Service Men From North Dakota

Plans for the American Legion's reception to President Wilson and his party on their arrival in this city next week were perfected last night at the bi-monthly meeting of Lloyd Spetz post no. 1 at the Elks club.

Robert Towner was put in charge of the presidential guard of honor which will escort the president personally from the depot to the auditorium and back to his special train. The guard will be composed of eight men, as prescribed in the military manual, and will perform its duties in the strictest military manner.

The legion will be led by its commander Captain A. A. Jones, who will be immediately followed by a mounted guard of six men, all former mounted men in the United States army. Besides the mounted guard and the guard of honor, the members of the legion, 150 strong, will march in full uniform under the strictest military discipline, the men for the time being acting just as if they were again in the service of Uncle Sam.

All members of Bismarck post will assemble at the Elks club at 10 o'clock sharp Wednesday morning and Captain Jones announced that he expected the legion to turn out 100 percent strong all in uniform for this occasion. This will be the first opportunity that Bismarck will have to see its service men in uniform and it is expected that a fine showing will be made.

Legion to Give Dance

It is probable that a dance will be held by the legion Tuesday night and the committee will announce the location of the affair before the end of this week. The orchestra, with one exception, will be composed entirely of American Legion members and will be known hereafter as the American Legion orchestra. The purpose of the dance will be to raise funds to help defray the cost of entertaining the delegates to the state convention of the legion which will be held in this city October 16 and 17. It is planned to have several dances before that time as a large fund will be needed for the entertainment features at that convention.

State Convention Here
The first state convention of the American Legion in North Dakota will be held in Bismarck, October 16 and 17.

This announcement was received with great enthusiasm last night at the bi-monthly meeting of the Lloyd Spetz post no. 1 of this city. Fargo put up a strong fight for the honor, but the majority of the state officials were in favor of Bismarck's claims for the honor. The official announcement is expected from Julius Baker, state chairman, of Fargo, this week.

There are a great many more than 1,000 members of the Legion in this state and it is predicted that at least 300 former soldiers, sailors and marines will be present at the state's first convention. The convention will precede the first national convention of the organization at Minneapolis in November and statewide interest has been shown in the Bismarck convention for this reason as many matters of importance to the entire membership will be taken up at that time.

Not being satisfied with having Bismarck named the first convention city of the state organization, the local chapter, which was the first organized in the state also hopes to secure the state headquarters for this city and also publish the official magazine for the various chapters throughout the state.

One of the strongest allies Bismarck has had in securing the convention is the American Legion post at Mandan and it is expected that that post will cooperate with the local (Continued on Page Two)

MONROE DOCTRINE SAVED

Declared Entirely Outside Jurisdiction of League of Nations—Article 10

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—The treaty of peace with Germany, ordered reported out late yesterday by the foreign relations committee, will include four reservations and about forty amendments when it reaches the floor of the senate about September 15. The reservations adopted by the committee in the form of a resolution of conditional ratification provides that:

One: The United States reserves the unconditional right to withdraw from the league.

Two: The United States is not bound by article 10 and accepts no mandate except by joint resolution of congress.

Three: All internal affairs of the United States are removed from the league consideration.

Monroe Doctrine Saved

Four: The Monroe Doctrine is declared entirely outside the league jurisdiction and the United States shall be its interpreter.

The amendments include the provision that Shantung shall be returned to China and substitutes "China" for "Japan" in the wording of the Shantung section; provide withdrawal of the United States from representation on the numerous international commissions; limit the authority of American representatives on the reparations commission; provide for equal voting power in the league council and assembly of the United States and Great Britain and prohibit British colonies voting in league deliberations on questions at issue between Great Britain and the United States. Most of the other amendments simply are changes in verbiage.

Miss Nielson Asks Supreme Bench to Prevent Bolshevik Rain on Education

Two important actions affecting the office of the state superintendent of public instruction, Miss Minnie J. Nielson, are set for argument in the supreme court next Tuesday and Wednesday. In the first of these Miss Nielson applies to the supreme court for a writ prohibiting the state board of administration from taking over the fixing of the course of study in the public schools of the state, as the board resolved it should do at an early meeting of this body.

In the second Neil C. Macdonald, the former state superintendent of public instruction, whom Miss Nielson retired last fall by a majority of more than 3,000 votes, is seeking, through a writ of prohibition, to establish his protection contention that Miss Nielson, for more than 25 years active in North Dakota educational affairs, is not qualified to fill the position to which the people elected her by the largest vote cast for a state officer in North Dakota.

Macdonald first refused to turn the office over to Miss Nielson last January until ordered by a writ of mandamus from the supreme court. Shortly thereafter he began quo warranto proceedings before Judge Nussle in district court, who threw the action out of court on the grounds that the statute under which the suit was brought was not constitutional. It is Macdonald's appeal from this ruling that the supreme court will hear next Tuesday.

Question of What Was to Be Done With Baby Elephant Solved by Totten

NEED HIS EXPERT ADVICE

The question, "What is the league going to do with Macdonald?" which has agitated the state for several months, was answered late Thursday afternoon when the board of administration, on motion of Chairman George A. Totten, elected N. C. Macdonald, former state superintendent of public instruction, to be education advisor and general school inspector. This office is one created by the board of administration Thursday afternoon, also on motion of Mr. Totten. It carries with it a salary of $3,000 per annum. Chairman Totten in making his motion declared it was necessary that the board have some one to whom it could turn for expert advice in school matters and also someone responsible to the board to represent it in the expenditure of rural school aid funds.

Although retired from the office of state superintendent January 1, when he was succeeded by Miss Minnie J. Nielson, who defeated him for reelection by a big majority, Macdonald has remained about the capitol, waging legal fight on Miss Nielson in an effort to oust her.

Mrs. Macdonald, who was her husband's deputy, was restored to the state payroll some time ago, when the board of administration made her deputy to E. P. Crain, registration clerk, another Macdonaldite rescued by the board.

August hail losses were light, judging from reports which have reached the hail insurance department, states T. J. Sheahan, deputy in charge. To date 7,048 adjustments have been checked over for the season and it has been found that they represent adjusted claims aggregating $1,840,087. More than 12,000 claims in all have been presented to the department, but the work of adjusting has not been completed. The average cost of adjusting a claim has been $3 states Mr. Sheahan, who advises that this is about fifty percent of the average cost reported by old line hail insurance companies.

WILSON DEVOTES SECOND DAY OF LONG TOUR TO RECUPERATING FOR ARDUOUS JOURNEY THAT IS COMING

Parades Streets of St. Louis and Hands Out Smiles to Cheering Crowds, But Makes No Morning Address—May Speak on Treaty at Luncheon This Afternoon or During Evening—Women of Missouri Metropolis Entertain Mrs. Wilson.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 15.—President Wilson today reached the real beginning of his western speaking tour in the interests of the peace treaty, the start of his long swing around the circle of states west of the Mississippi.

Having sounded the keynote of his appeal in addresses yesterday at Columbus and Indianapolis, Mr. Wilson planned to take up a brief respite from speech-making today before plunging into the arduous program that will carry him into virtually every western state. Arriving at St. Louis early this morning, he arranged to sleep late on his special train and then speak, keeping most of the day free.

May Speak at Luncheon

Early in the afternoon, however, he was to attend a luncheon at a downtown hotel, where it was expected he would make a brief talk on the treaty and in the evening he was to speak at the coliseum where in 1916 he was nominated for the presidency. A part of the day's program was a forenoon automobile ride thru the principal streets of the city from his train to the hotel.

In addition to his address here tonight the president is to make one address in Kansas City tomorrow morning.

Two hours before the president was scheduled to leave his train for his drive over St. Louis boulevards these thoroughfares were closed to traffic.

Troops From Jefferson

Several companies of the United States soldiers from Jefferson barracks met the train at the western terminus of the city and stood guard over it while the president slept and until his host for his hotel at 8:30 a. m. The president decided a parade thru the central thoroughfares of the city this morning and was given an ovation. When he appeared on the rear platform of the train at 9:25 o'clock thousands of persons broke thru the military cordon and surrounded him. Police, secret service men and the military found it difficult to control the crowd. The executive smiled his appreciation.

Thousands of persons lined the decorated streets as the parade passed. A captive military division was suspended 10,000 feet in the air in the central portion of the city.

The parade was composed of the presidential party, secret service men and the reception committee.

After the column of automobiles entered the business section, the president and Mrs. Wilson repaired to a hotel.

A committee of women entertained Mrs. Wilson.

Washington, D. Declaring the president's intention indicated "contemptuous disregard for the law" the Illinois senator said: "Public officials have been impeached for far more flagrant violations of the law of our country than this."

A Word About the Maxwell TRUCK

Last week Bismarck and vicinity was treated to a wonderful demonstration of the efficiency of the Truck on the farm as well as for city use.

The Maxwell Truck

and perhaps eight or ten other different makes of Trucks are represented in Bismarck. It is a significant fact, however, that the

was the only truck handled in this territory that was entered in the big tour. It is also a significant fact that the MAXWELL TRUCK made the entire trip from Chicago to Bismarck with a perfect score.

The Maxwell Truck

PETITION SIGNERS SORRY

Beach, Sept. 4.—The filing of the complaints against States Attorney R. F. Gallagher and Sheriff John Pierzina, upon which Governor Frazier has suspended these officials, seems to have brought forth fruit not contemplated by the parties interested in the removal of these men from office.

Some of the signers of the charges allege they did not know what they were signing, the contents having been told them in a general way, and are very uneasy over the position they find themselves in.

Mary Halstead, a young woman who was attacked in the charges against Pierzina, has retained an attorney to prosecute a damage suit against the signers of the charges, all of whom are farmers, and a number of other suits are to follow along the same line. The accused officials are confident they can refute all charges made in any fair court. In any event the matter will go the limit in the courts before it is ended, the accused officials say.

The county commissioners have appointed C. L. Dawson, a young attorney lately returned from the war, as acting state's attorney, and E. E. Mikleson, former chief deputy, as acting sheriff. The commissioners are anti-Townley.

The taking of testimony on the charges will be held here September 16, before T. J. Krause, a Mandan attorney, and it promises to be one of the most interesting washings out of linen ever had in the state, as it is generally believed here that the charges against the two county officials, particularly those against the sheriff, more properly fit a former official than the present incumbent. The feeling in the county seems to be overwhelmingly with the county officials.

You Never Grow Tired of a Hot Spot Chalmers

Things only half good you soon tire of. But you never tire of a great painting like Whistler's portrait of his mother, nor a fine animal like your friend: a well bred dog.

A Chalmers car of today possesses the same fascination. It's a "creature of steel" that seems to have a heart and a mind.

It's so willing and so quick to answer your every request. It's so gentle as you run along at snail's pace, and yet so savage, so eager the moment you open the throttle.

But never once do you get a "torrent of vibration" when the power stream is turned on. That's one reason why you like it so well.

Hot Spot and Ram's-horn do the trick. They "predigest" the gas and feed the engine's cylinders a well nigh perfect fuel. That is 90% of it. The other 10 is that "feel" which only a ride behind the wheel can justly describe.

Try it: just once, and you are sure to join the ranks of friends of the Hot Spot Chalmers.

Law Enforcement Department Does Its Bit Toward Finan- ing North Dakota

New Rockford, N. D., Sept. 5.—Votaries at the shrine of the Goddess Nicotine yesterday afternoon wept mental tears when under the direction of the Eddy county sheriff, 15,440 cigarettes and 154 books of cigarette papers were, with scant ceremony, consigned to the flames of a bonfire in the city park.

This is believed to be the largest amount of cigarettes and makin's ever destroyed in North Dakota. The goods were taken from a local confectionery store, the proprietor of which was ar- rested and succumbed before the ad- vance of Langer's "flying squadron". He paid a fine of $50 and costs and was given a ten-day suspended jail sentence in addition to surrendering approximately $200 worth of stock.

Seven Arrests Made There were a total of seven arrests for violation of the cigarette, snuff and gambling laws in Eddy county.

Perry Star, owner and proprietor of a pool hall at Oberon, was out thresh- ing when the law enforcing party dis- patched the Benson county sheriff from Minnewaukan to bring in law violators. In the absence of the proprietor the sheriff called in two clerks of the Star pool hall, one of whom was the 16-year-old stepson of the proprietor. The sheriff also brought in confiscated goods, including three slot machines, other gambling appar- atus, including a large supply of poker chips, and the "kitty" drawer of a poker table. Following the investiga- tion of the Star pool hall, State In- spector Earle H. Tostevin, issued an order revoking the license of Star to operate a pool hall and soft drink place, on the grounds that Star had violated the anti-snuff law, the anti- cigarette law, the gambling law, the swindling law, and the law preventing minors from frequenting pool halls.

Sorry, But It Can't Be Helped

Referring to the cigarette bonfire at New Rockford, Assistant Attorney General Albert E. Sheets, Jr., said: "I regret that it was not possible to turn these cigarettes over to the Red Cross for shipment to troops remain- ing in Europe, but the law plainly reads and states such goods must be destroyed, and we had no alternative." The work of the attorney general's law enforcers resulted in upwards of 159 arrests to date. A precedent for the state was established Thursday at Rugby when X. Sawaya, pleaded guilty to the charge of selling snuff and was assessed a fine of $500 and costs which he paid.

Rugby Kicks In At Rugby during the hour and a half stay of the flying squadron there were eight arrests which with the "schnocs" contribution by Sawaya netted $850 in fines. Several of the state departments and employees could be paid several months' salary if it were possible to put the money derived from this law enforcement flying trip into the general fund, as up-to-date law violators have been assessed a total of approximately $9000.

PATZMAN COLTS TO MEET TUTTLE TEAM

What will probably be the hottest game of the season will be played at the capitol ball grounds Sunday when Lismarck meets the fast Wilton team.

There has been a great deal of rivalry between these two teams as to what is the better, each claiming the championship for this section, but with its new lineup Patzman's Colts believe that they will have no trouble in defeating the visiting aggregation. Patzman had some trouble arranging this game as Wilton at first did not want to play Lismarck, claiming a pre- vious game with Tuttle for Sunday, but the Tuttleites finally consented to come here and meet the "million dol- lar infield" and the rejuvenated Colts. Murderers Row, Rockford, Churchill, Roy and the others expect to pound the ball into Sheridan county regard- less who Tuttle puts in to pitch. The Colts, as they stand now, are undoubt- edly the fastest ball team in this sec- tion of the state and following the splendid ten-inning contest they put up against McKenzie two weeks ago, fans promise to turn out in full force.

Ages-Old Customs Resurrected When Hawaiians Return

Papeete, Tahiti, July 15.—(Corres- pondence of The Associated Press).— Age old Polynesian customs and arts of song and dance, half forgotten by the natives in their swing toward Eu- ropean customs, were revived during the great festival which during the past few weeks welcomed home Ta- hitian veterans of the great war.

Maran, formerly queen, came from semi-retirement and gave a pic- turesque feast of royal proportions in the old king's palace.

The otea, or dancing company, pre- senting evolutions not unlike the Ha- waiian hula-hula, seen again and the himene, sal musical experts to be unique in all the world, was sung. In the himene, lately abandoned for hymns and European songs taught by missionaries, short phrases of great originality and often of great beauty are woven together in four or five parts without dissonance. Some liken it to Wagnerian choruses.

One colorful feature of the celebra- tion was the lantern parade when young and old, carrying torches, danced through the highways and by- ways of the town. The square, light- ed all about with paper lanterns while flower-crowned women promenaded with husbands or sweethearts, pre- sented a romantic picture of old Ta- hiti.

When the battalion of Tahitian sol- diers arrived they were greeted by great crowds of brilliantly attired na- tives crowding piers and beach. They marched through triumphal arches of palms and after being officially welcomed by Governor Jocelyn Robert were taken over by the crowds.

The festival continued more than two weeks. Other settlements of the island have made preparations for other celebrations to follow.

WESTERN SALES MAN SEES GOOD ROADS BOOMING

Movement Spreading Rapidly All Over Country, Declares S. A. Floren

The good roads movement is spread- ing all over the country in a remark- able manner, and hundreds of millions of dollars are being expended for roads everywhere.

"California's $40,000,000 bond issue will be spent as soon as the bonds are sold," said S. A. Floren of the West- ern Sales Co., today.

"Good roads make hauling by truck faster, easier and less expensive. In a test recently made by the Portland Cement association accurate data showed that it took 2.04 percent more gasoline to haul a load over a dirt road than over smooth concrete, and the saving recorded between the two types of road would pay toward the construc- tion of a paved highway at the rate of $3,000 per mile per year on a road carrying 500 motor vehicles a day."

"These experiences were made over roads of every type and results showed conclusively—that smooth-surfaced roads pay. This is the era of good trucks and good roads."

"We should have nothing but hard surfaced roads along the two main highways in the county and altho the first expense seems very great yet the saving in time, gasoline and wear on passenger cars and motor trucks would more than pay the cost in five years time, or less."

"Another factor that should be re- membered when speaking of good roads is the fact that good roads require constant and very expensive repairing at all times of the year while con- crete roads when once put down re- quire none, or very little attention if they are built correctly."

Germany's Side of the Great World War

Will Be Told by General Luden- dorf, Master German Strate- gist in The Minneapolis Trib- une.

Germany's side of the war is to be made public at last. The long silence is to be broken by General Luden- dorf, Germany's greatest military genius.

The amazing story, the sensation of the year, the costliest newspaper fea- ture ever brought to the northwest, will be published every day, daily and Sunday for about 100 days in The Minneapolis Tribune, beginning Sunday, September 7.

Thus, at last, the German side of the war emerges from the mystery in which it has been enshrouded ever since the Kaiser's armies began ham- mering their way through neutral Belgium in August, 1914.

German of the Germans

None better than General Luden- dorf, this German of the Germans in Germany, could tell the story of the German campaigns, of Germany's Ti- tantic effort to dominate the world, the inside story of her inception of ruthless U-boat warfare; of the ups and downs of her mad struggle against an enroused world in arms.

From the outset of the war to Ger- many's final collapse the name of Lu- dendorf bulked ever larger. He be- came the colossal figure on the Ger- man side. He seemed to embody Germany's aggressiveness, to typify her savage militarism, her lust for conquest. He loomed the incarnation of imperial Prussia. He was Ger- many's strategist, the war genius that directed her successful campaigns.

Whole World Waits For Story

And when it became known that he was engaged in writing a book that will lay bare, it is believed, the very innermost secrets of Germany's war plans, the whole world began waiting in suspense for its appearance. His book will comprise approximately 250,000 words. No author in previous history has received so large an ad- vance payment for his manuscript as General Ludendorff is accredited with having received from the American publishers who obtained the rights for this country.

The serial rights to the publication of General Ludendorff's story have been sold to the leading daily news- papers of the United States. The story will appear in no other form except in the book when published some months from now. No maga- zines were given the right to publish the story.

Story Costs Small Fortune

As an indication of the great im- portance to the public with which General Ludendorff's story is viewed it may be said that some of the news- papers paid as high as $15,000, for the right to print this story. In no instance was the cost under several thousand dollars.

The Minneapolis Tribune has ob- tained the serial rights to the ex- clusive publication of General Lu- dendorf's story in Minnesota. It will be the only newspaper in Minneapolis, St. Paul or throughout the whole state to carry this thrilling, vital ac- count of Germany's part in the war, told in intimate close-up and most interesting detail.

In parts of his book he says:

"Some of the Highlights
"It was the German government's fault that Germany was defeated."
"The U-boat warfare was justified."
"The German government thought more of making peace than of making war."

"Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg did not back up the German army chiefs."
"Germany's situation was serious from the start; it was critical long before she collapsed in 1918."

"Austria-Hungary was a burden and not a help to Germany."
"Germany had no inkling of the Russian revolution."

"Bernhardt's book should never have been written."

The Minneapolis Tribune is to be congratulated upon its enterprise in obtaining this wonderful story of the inside facts about Germany's part in the war for the benefit of its readers. It should make a great hit with our people who have been waiting for just this message from Germany, itself.

Certified By Goodrich More-Mileage Adjustment

Whenever you buy anything, something measures it out, certifying how much of it you get. It may be by yardstick, or a pair of scales.

The tire user has settled on the mile as his measuring unit of service.

Goodrich, accepting his measurement, certifies them both the quality and quantity of Goodrich Tires with the Goodrich More-Mileage Ad-justment—6,000 miles for Fabric Tires—8,000 miles for Silver-town Cords.

Goodrich is making what it has pleased thousands of Goodrich dealers and users to tell us "are the best tires the rubber indus-try has produced."

Then Goodrich Certifi-cation steps in, and measures out to the tire user in his own unit the least he with proper usage will get from a Goodrich Tire.

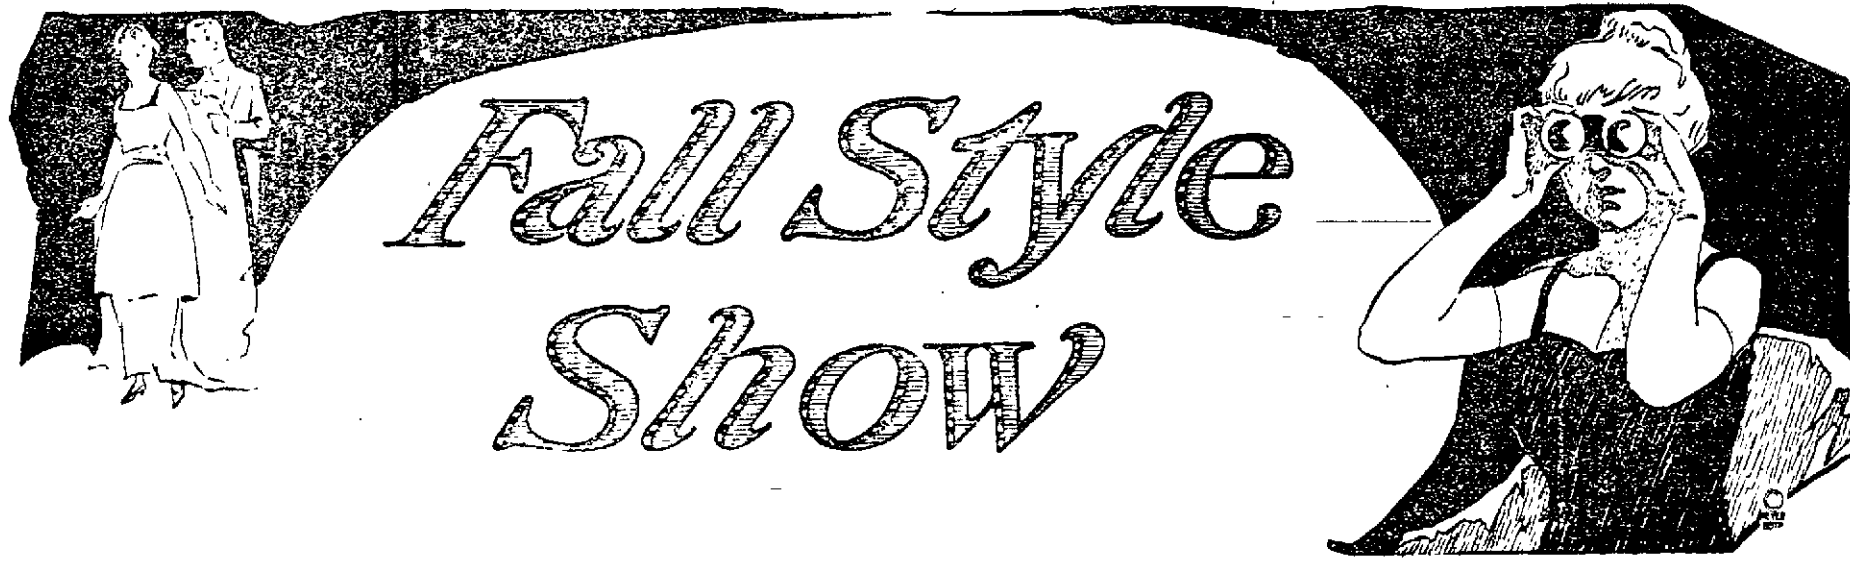

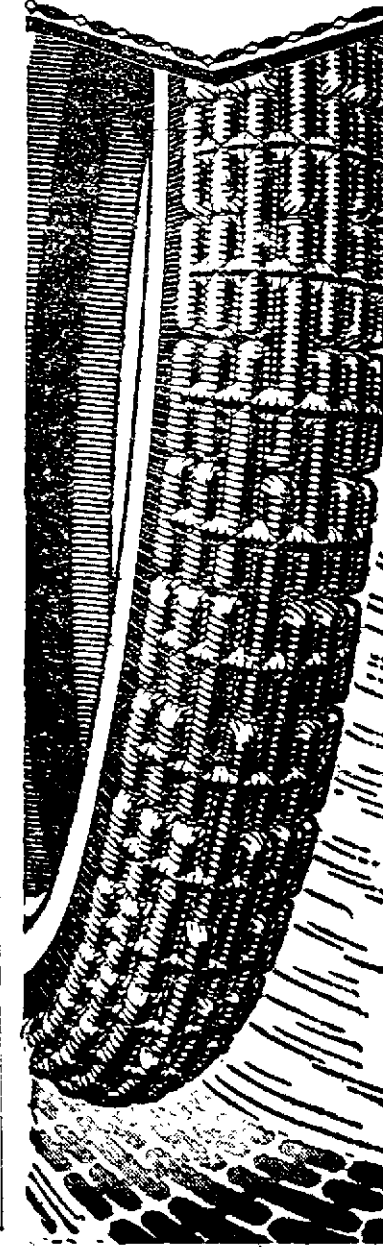

It gives tire users the peak standard, at once a gauge to appraise the value of other tires, and a surety bond for the Goodrich Tires he is buying.

WEBSTER HOTEL, TOO TOUGH FOR WORDS, DELETED

Langer's Flying Squadron of Anti-Vice Crusaders Makes
Haul at Fargo

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 5.—The "one" slaters, "Dutch" Doe, "Montana" Roe, Cecilia Mae, Victoria Coe and Margaret Lowe, an alleged loose gun-tote appeared before County Judge Hanson this week to perform in a one act tragedy. They were but part of the bill, and were secured through the booking agency of Attorney General Langer, in a one-night stand of the flying squadron of law enforcers staged in Fargo last night.

Assistant Attorney General Albert E. Sheets, Jr., State Attorney William C. Green, N. D. Law Enforcement League officers, Sheriff Andrew Ross and about twenty special deputies last week raided the Webster Hotel, padlocking the door, and this morning continued the raid by arresting proprietors or managers of 21 pool halls or confectionery stores on the charge of selling cigarettes.

According to Webster, Three girls were captured in the raid on the Webster hotel under compromising circumstances. George Kerner and Ed Philson, ricks of the hotel, were placed under arrest on the charge of association and of receiving the earnings of a prostitute. Nick Osterhaus, proprietor of the Webster was arrested on the same two charges, and the further charge of maintaining a common nuisance. Approximately 75 guests were forced to leave the hotel and seek other lodgings, and the hotel was closed as tightly as a T. wiley secret caucus. When the officers entered the place, clerks, and others were told to remain where they were. Books were confiscated and a systematic search of the rooms was conducted, with sensational results. Guests were escorted to the county court house and were examined by Assistant Attorney General Sheets, and several were detained as well.

In addition to the women, three John Does were apprehended and two will answer to charges of association, a new crime created by a recent legislative act. The third John Doe escaped during the confusion.

The raid on the Webster hotel comes as the result of surveillance by operatives of the attorney general's department working in co-operation with State Attorney Green.

Art Dugre, an employee of a taxicab company was arrested on the charge of bootlegging. Raids in Cass county were not confined alone to the city of Fargo for pool hall proprietors in Argusville, Grandin, Casserton and Buffalo were arrested on charges of violating the anti-cigarette law and a confectioner at Tower City on the same charge.

The Fargo raids come as a part of a whirlwind campaign against law violators in various parts of the state which was actively launched Wednesday at Jamestown where twenty-four arrests were made. In this dragnet one,

MAN ARRESTED FOR ASSASSINATION OF ARCHDUKE FERDINAND IN 1914 IS NOW PRESIDENT OF PROVINCE

Sarajevo, July 15. (Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—One of the men who were arrested by Austrian authorities after the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand in 1914, is now President of the Provincial government of Bosnia-Herzegovina and is regarded as one of the leaders in the kingdom of Jugoslavia. He was kept in prison at hard labor during the war. Today, in his office in what was formerly part of an Austrian palace, Mr. Shola described his years in prison and subsequent rise to power. He is a Herzegovinian, forty-two years old and considered to be a man of exceptional ability.

One hundred and fifty-six of us were placed under arrest in July, 1914," he said. "There was no proof that I was in sympathy with the Jugoslavian propaganda, but the authorities suspected what was in my heart. Sixteen of the men arrested at that time were condemned to death. The death penalties were not executed, because of the remonstrance by the king of Spain, but the prison sentences were all made effective.

"I went to prison on July 26, 1914. My cell was a small one—a mere cage, and I was kept at hard labor. In October of 1918, the people of Bosnia-Herzegovina, as in other Jugoslavian provinces of the Austrian Empire, anticipated the debacle of the empire, and organized a National Council for the conduct of affairs. As soon as the Austrian army fled this council came into full executive power and the men wrongly imprisoned were liberated. I was released from prison on November 1, 1918, and almost immediately was chosen by the National Council as president of the government in Bosnia-Herzegovina.

He said that the people generally were in sympathy with the central Jugoslavian government at Belgrade. He said that the people generally were in sympathy with the central Jugoslavian government at Belgrade.

Another still at Medjugorje was caught in full blast when the flying squadron raided the place under the direction of Assistant Attorney General Sheets. Joseph Kerner, owner and operator of the still was in his fields threshing but his wife and several children were tending the whiskey manufacture. The still itself was an excellent example of the type in use. A milk can, sealed at the top, was placed on a stove which kept the mash boiling merrily. A copper tube led from the top of the milk can down through a barrel of cold water placed beside the stove and the end of the tube emerged from the barrel and the condensed liquor dropped steadily into a bottle. Twelve bottles of the finished product were confiscated.

Thirteen arrests were made at Valley City for gambling, pigging and selling cigarettes. It was through incidents in connection with the raid that the chief of police resigned.

So far on the campaign of the flying squadron 96 arrests have been made out of 300 which it is admitted the state officers are on the schedule. The wholesale batch of arrests comes at the end of an unpropitious investigation carried on during the past three months under the direction of the attorney general's office. So far eighty percent of the law violators have pleaded guilty.

his nation to be a great nation. And a great nation, he added, "was that which penetrates into the heart of its duty among the nations of the world."

The luncheon was held at hotel roof garden, and all of the 1,700 plates were taken.

At the president's table were Governor Gardner of Missouri and Henry W. Kiel, mayor of St. Louis.

Rebel Yells For Wilson

The president and Mrs. Wilson were received with cheers and rebel yells and there was more cheering when he arose to speak.

The president was introduced by Mayor Kiel, a republican. He said that in honor of the visit "politics had been suspended for this occasion all day long."

The crowd gave three cheers for the "benefactor of the world," proposed by one of the diners.

The president said he was glad to see "politics adjourned" because the politics had nothing to do with the great issues before the country.

OLD-TIME GUNMAN

OF LITTLE MISSOURI

DIES WITH BOOTS ON

Marmarth, N. D., Sept. 5.—Sam Van Schuyver, a typical character of the old west, famous here in the days when Marmarth was wild and woolly, was shot to death last week in Thermopolis, Wyo., by an unknown assassin. Van Schuyver was known in the early days here as a man quick on the trigger. He was tending bar in a saloon on the east side of the Little Missouri when a bad man known as Gillan attempted to shoot up the town. Gillan progressed as far as Van Schuyver's place, where he sought to take charge and treat the boys. Van Schuyver "drew" and killed the bad man on the spot, and he was given a medal for it.

TAFT RECEIVES 1,825 LETTERS FROM A LONG BEACH CORRESPONDENT

Long Beach, Calif., Sept. 5.—Having received 1,825 letters in five years from some local resident whose writing was so poor the letters could not be read, former President William H. Taft, through his secretary, has asked Walter J. Desmond, postmaster here, to find the anonymous correspondent and ascertain what it is all about. W. W. Wischler, Mr. Taft's secretary, writes that the missives seldom bear sufficient postage. Each letter generally covers six closely-written sheets. The opening lines always are: "Full many a gem of purest ray serene, The dark unfathomed caves of ocean haire."

GERMAN CIVILIANS BITTER AGAINST THE TROOPS OF NOSKE

With the American Force in Germany, Aug. 2. (Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Details of civilian attacks on German soldiers in various parts of Germany have reached the headquarters of the American forces recently showing the bitterness of German civilians against the troops of Gustav Noske, the German Minister of Military Affairs.

Several disgruntled German soldiers who entered the American zone a few days ago asserted that patrols of the first battalion of the Twenty-second Reichswehr regiment stationed at Hanau were safe only when proceeding in force. These former soldiers were members of this unit and said that almost at any time when a soldier appeared in the streets of Hanau alone, or accompanied by one or two comrades, he was likely to be attacked by civilians and that many serious encounters between soldiers and civilians had occurred lately.

On the other hand, men of the railroad regiments at Hanau said that they never had any trouble and were on good terms with the people.

WHEN HATRED DIES

A lad with bright eyes and pale cheeks sneaked aboard a British freighter at Hamburg and hid himself in a coil of rope in the stoke hole. He was found after the vessel was at sea and told the captain that he wanted to go to his uncle in San Francisco.

The boy was German, 11 years old. He was among English sailors who, of all men, hated the Hun.

He was a badly frightened youngster, far from home and farther from San Francisco.

The crew of the Lake Fray passed the hat and collected $75 to buy clothing for the youngster; the officers gave directions that he was to have all he wanted to eat. The captain could talk a little German and he made the stowaway feel at home.

Sailors have hearty appetites, but they marveled at the exhibition of a boy's hunger, satisfying itself after years of craving.

When the Lake Fray arrived at Hull, the boy's adventure was reported to the authorities. Probably he will be sent back to Germany.

But the sailors and officers want to keep him aboard. They say the boy will be broken-hearted if he can't stay!

The question is being solemnly asked, "How much longer shall we hate?" When can amicable relations with Germany be resumed?

Commerce will take no heed of sentiment, and Germany's trade will be as welcome as that of any nation. As for the feeling of allied people toward the people of Germany, the Lake Fray incident shows how difficult it is to keep animosity alive.

All this talk about the determination of the masses to start a revolution if they can't have their own sweet way is pure piffle—unless we understand the word "masses" to mean "foreign-born."

WITH THE EDITORS

THE HONOR OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE IS AT STAKE

The American people ought seriously to realize that if the United States senate should carry the recommendation of its foreign affairs committee into effect, amending the pending treaty of peace by providing for the transfer of Shantung to China instead of to Japan, it would involve three things: a national dishonor to ourselves, an act of perfidy toward three of our allies, Great Britain, France, and Japan, and an irritant to at least the latter that might be deemed a casus belli and would certainly be viewed (quite rightly) as a very unfriendly act. On the other hand, since we would be powerless, on our own motion, to effect the transfer to China unless we chose to make the attempt by declaring war against the three nations mentioned and should win the war, the proposed change in the language of the treaty would be of not the slightest value to China; while, by repudiating the treaty, as we should thus do, we should relieve Germany of all the obligations relating to ourselves, which she has been forced to assume, and should dissociate ourselves from the forces of civilization that are now compelling Germany to make some form of restitution for her misdeeds in the past.

For it must be remembered that the chief issue involved in this Shantung matter, so far as the powers are concerned, is the sanctity of treaties. And the senate committee is deliberately demanding that Great Britain and France make of their treaty with Japan a "scrap of paper," with the penalty that the United States will withdraw from the association with these powers in making peace with Germany if they refuse to do so.

As representing the conscience of some considerable part of the American people, we unhesitatingly declare that position to involve national dishonor for the American nation.

Whatever wrong was done to China—and it was a genuine wrong—was done by Germany when, in 1898, she forced the treaty which gave her the "lease" of the Kaio-Chau bay section of the province of Shantung; and it was a wrong in which Russia, England, and France immediately afterward participated by seizing other desirable portions of the China coast and forcing similar "leases" in their respective interests. If the United States had protested against this wrong at the time it was committed she would have some color—though not much—for the present demand of the senate committee that Japan, as successor to the "rights" of Germany, should be deprived of those "rights," while no such demand is made upon England or France. The United States made no such protest. The world has acquiesced in the wrong then committed. No nation, unless it be China herself, can intervene now, twenty years too late, and say that the lease to Germany cannot be taken over by Japan, who ousted the Germans from their possessions in China precisely as Great Britain and her dominions ousted them from other German colonies, as incidents in the world war.

That, long before we entered the war, Great Britain and France made a secret treaty with Japan guaranteeing to the latter her succession to the German lease on condition that she oust the Germans from it, is regrettable to us, who do not believe in secret treaties though entirely in accordance with the general practice of other nations than our own. But as we were holding ourselves aloof from the nations that were straining their resources to repel the German invasion, we have very little right to criticize these for making the engagement. The fact that the treaty was a secret one does not relieve the signatory powers from their obligations under it. Moreover, even if these powers were bound by Mr. Wilson's denunciation of secret treaties made three years later, which, of course, is a preposterous position, it still remains that Mr. Wilson, in his fourteen "points", never demanded that secret treaties already made should be repudiated but only that in future there should be no more of them.

Mr. Wilson's attitude at Versailles, with respect to Shantung, if we understand it aright, was an earnest plea to Japan voluntarily to recede from the rights she had won in China, in order to co-operate in the beginning of a new world era in which weak nations should no longer be despoiled by stronger nations. It would have been a magnificent thing for Japan if she had voluntarily accepted that principle. It would have given her the confidence of the world. It would have guaranteed to her such a moral influence in Chinese affairs as would have been of lasting value to her. It would have cemented her friendship with America. It would have made her the world's leader in dealing with the problems of territorial reconstruction.

But Japan did not. She insisted upon her rights under the treaty. She had every legal right thus to insist upon them. Great Britain and France fulfilled their obligation to guarantee those rights to her. These nations would have shared in the perfidy of Germany if they had violated their obligation. And if Mr. Wilson had insisted that they do so, on pain of refusing American assent to the treaty of peace, he would have committed the American nation to a demand that Great Britain and France, having profited by their treaty with Japan, now repudiate their obligations under that treaty.

That is precisely what the United States senate will have done if it amends the treaty in accordance with the recommendation of Mr. Lodge's committee. But the senate, in that event, will also adopt a peculiarly dishonorable method in doing that which is in itself dishonorable. Instead of negotiating with Japan, England, and France in diplomatic manner in an attempt to undo their own treaty on the ground that we (whom it does not concern) disapprove of it, the senate is asked by its committee to use its own constitutional power of force—for we will not call it a right—to refuse assent to the treaty of peace except on the condition that these nations comply with our demand.

The United States, as the disinterested friend of Japan and China, was entirely within her rights in urging the former of these to recede from her rights under that treaty; but she has not the faintest color of right to demand that Japan do so. To formulate such a demand, even in a diplomatic manner, would be a national impertinence which would be, and ought to be, indignantly resented by Japan. And now, from being, two years ago, an appreciated friend of the nations that were in distress, we shall become, if this committee recommendation shall be made the action of the senate, an international bully, selecting the most offensive way in which to accomplish that which is in itself dishonorable. And the absolute futility of the action is as conspicuous as its impropriety.

Do the American people realize that this position has been deliberately avowed by a senate committee, and that there is grave danger that it will be accepted by the senate itself?

This is not a political issue; it is an issue in which the honor of the American people is involved, and it is the paramount duty of religious leaders of the nation to demand that the senate act both honorably and courteously toward those nations that have solemnly entered into treaty obligations with each other, which obligations now they must fulfill.

And it should be made perfectly clear to those who are promoting this act of national perfidy in the senate that the religious sense of the nation will hold them personally responsible, and any political party which may uphold them politically responsible, for what will have become the blackest chapter in American history.

All that our boys have won in France for American prestige and American honor is now being seriously imperilled by the men who bear the responsibility of the American people in the senate.

We shall hope that this may be thoroughly understood throughout the country, and that the conscience of the American people will assert itself in demands upon their senators that they emphatically reject the amendment which has been proposed by their committee on foreign affairs.—The Living Church, (the great western organ of the Episcopal church.)

COUNTY HEADS HAVE MEETING; DON'T DO MUCH

Agricultural Agent's Report Seems to Be Most Important Work Accomplished

The county commissioners met Wednesday for their regular meeting, but outside of visiting work being done on some portions of the roads in the county, in the afternoon, did not transact much business of importance. The usual orders were approved.

County agent, George W. Gustafson, made his monthly report on activities in the county. The report submitted to the commissioners is as follows:

Grasshoppers
 Flax fields and corn are the only crops now molested. However, the agent has constantly urged the practice of eradication methods to ward off the infestation of grasshoppers in 1920. The remedies put forth are simple but urgent and though some farmers think that the hoppers have left never to return the danger of a general infestation is serious. Conditions have prevailed which are favorable for the breeding and propagation of this species for another year. Fall and spring plowing have been urged thru the press, letter, talks and personal interviews. About a hundred tons of poison material is on hand which can be used to good advantage early in 1920.

Labor
 Naturally this is the busy season of the year when harvest is in full swing and threshing demanding a large number of men. The class of men which the county agent has been able to place has been of a high order. Montana and western North Dakota men have come in large numbers looking for work. Many of these have been sent direct to me from county agents of the western country, and in this way the agents have been of great help not only to these men but to those farmers who have been fortunate enough to secure them. A few wobbles but not enough to bother the labor situation very seriously. Men have been placed at wages ranging between $3.50 to $5.00 a day, and $50 to $80 per month. A total of 49 men have been placed on farms in the county during the month.

Sheep
 A growing interest in sheep has been manifested as the result of efforts of the county agent to introduce Montana stock into the county. Information received from representatives of the agricultural college studying the sheep situation in Montana has been given out and published for the benefit of those who plan on getting sheep. As a direct result of this information four farmers left on the 26th for Montana with intentions of buying a carload apiece. These men have not returned at the close of the month and therefore the results of this trip cannot be reported. Others are planning on going out later and indications point to a number of sheep being imported into the county which will prove to culture than any other factor can possibly do. Interest will be removed from the unreliable and disappointing grain crop to the institution which has proven the salvation of many a community, viz: cow, cream, and separator and all those things which are added to it. Recognizing this fact, the county agent has spent considerable time in emphasizing the silo in Burleigh county. With the splendid crop of corn this year the farmer with a silo is not going to miss greatly the wheat crop of this year.

In each instance the county board's equalization was increased, as follows: Divide five percent; Griggs, 30; Ransom, 40; Rollette, 5; Sheridan, 5; Walsh, 25.

MORE GOOD THAN EVERYTHING ELSE

This is What Tanlac Accomplished in Case of Duluth Man

"Since I began taking Tanlac I have improved so much that even my friends can notice the difference in my condition," said Peter W. Gallagher, of 2413 West 5th St., Duluth, Minn., to Tanlac representative, recently. Mr. Gallagher, who works at the A. M. C. building, has lived in Duluth for over twenty years and is well and favorably known.

"I suffered from stomach trouble and nervousness for three or four years," continued Mr. Gallagher, "and was also troubled in a great deal with rheumatism and finally got in such bad shape I was barely able to keep at work. My blood seemed to be thick, because I was as pale as a ghost all the time and my nerves were almost a total wreck. Sometimes what I ate seemed to form an oval lot of gas on my stomach and I was in such pain from this bloating that beads of sweat would break out all over my body and I would be troubled so much by shortness of breath I couldn't do a thing and trembled so much that I couldn't even lift a glass of water. I took all sorts of treatment for this trouble, but nothing gave me a bit of relief and I finally got in such bad shape I was just barely able to keep going and that was about all. In addition to this stomach trouble I also had rheumatism in my left knee, leg and foot and sometimes it was so bad I was afraid to take off my shoe, because I couldn't get it back on again. I could hardly bend it without almost crying out with the agony I was in."

"Then I commenced taking Tanlac and I just want to say it did more for me than anything else I have ever taken. In fact, my whole condition is so greatly improved that I am actually feeling better than I have in three years. I feel my strength coming back to me and my blood must be better because I am getting some color, and I have already gained six pounds in weight and, strange to say, that rheumatic trouble is so much improved I can take off my shoe now without being afraid. I won't be able to get it back on again. Tanlac seemed to be the very thing I needed and I am so pleased with what it has done for me that I am telling my friends about it."

Tanlac is sold in Bismarck by J. S. Preslow, in Devils by N. D. and J. H. Barrett and in Wyo. by F. P. Hoeman—Advt.

MISSOURI RIVER TO HELP REDUCE COST OF LIVING

Campaign to Develop Waterways to Combat High Prices Nation-Wide

Through the commercial clubs of some of the important cities along America's waterways, a national campaign is under way to develop the river and its tributaries. The Mississippi valley trade and open the doors to increase foreign trade for the United States. Active work has been started in New Orleans, St. Louis, Memphis and many other cities.

At the beginning of the campaign will be along educational lines, to acquaint the public with the opportunities for trade expansion and development of the river. Ultimately it is hoped to restore the Mississippi in her old-time glory through the revival of the steamboat trade. Statistics compiled by experts show that at the present time, it is cheaper to ship goods abroad from all points west of Chicago by the waterways route to New Orleans than by way of New York. It is expected that this campaign will result in a new era of river development and express service in the valley region.

It is planned to carry on this educational campaign through the medium of the newspapers and the motion picture screen. Arrangements are under consideration for three important motion picture productions with a view to carrying the message of the Mississippi valley to the people of America. The most important of these will be a feature picture based on a story by Booth Tarkington called "The Great American." In his story, Mr. Tarkington, one of the foremost American authors, tells how two American war heroes are induced to abandon their dreams of conquering the big city and return home to bring the Mississippi back to life. The story is the heart of America, the lifeblood of the Valley of Democracy. It is the impetus for the money required to buy ships with which they eventually restore to the "Father of Waters" the glory of bygone years. The story pictures the river with steel steamboats and hydroplanes, busily plying their trade as the happy inhabitants of the river cities through the bustling wharves.

Another important work along the same line will be the production of a series of educational scenic pictures, showing America's rivers and river towns. Cameramen will be sent down the rivers on the boats, visiting all of the towns of importance. This part of the campaign will be carried out with the cooperation of the chambers of commerce. It is proposed to picture the river, the civic achievements of the river towns, what they are doing to better the children, and the steps that are being taken to beautify the rivers. When these pictures are shown throughout the country, towns will be greatly benefited by seeing what their towns are doing along these lines.

The development of the Mississippi river is an active program to promote its greatest tributary, the Missouri river, according to George N. Kelllogg, secretary of the Commercial club, when asked in what way this campaign will affect Bismarck.

"The federal government has, for many years," said Mr. Kelllogg, "sent out boats up the Missouri to maintain and protect the survey of the river. The vast present and future resources of the great Northwest should seek the cheaper transportation afforded by the Missouri river and Bismarck's place in this trade will become of almost importance thru this campaign."

NEW OVERLAND CAR IS RESULT OF MUCH STUDY BY EXPERTS

Production Interrupted by War
Resumed With Many Latest Features Added

Production of the new light four cylinder car, held up for the last two years, because of war conditions, has been begun by the Willys-Overland company of Toledo and shipments to dealers are being made, according to W. E. Lahr, head of the Lahr Motor Sales Co., local distributors of these cars.

The car is known as Overland 4. Its production marks the culmination of one of the most interesting undertakings in the history of the automobile industry.

Back of the whole production plan has been the equally great development of the Willys-Overland engineering department. The development of the new car from an engineering standpoint represents a concentration of skill as intensive as the manufacturing skill concentrated in its production. Chief among the many engineering features of distinction in the new car is the new spring suspension which it is said, after two years of exhaustive test, marks a really notable advance in motor car riding qualities.

More than 30,000 employees in the many allied Willys-Overland industrial plants have taken part in the development and production of the new car. Although the announcement of the new model was made more than two years ago by President Willys, the entire interval, according to him, has been devoted to perfecting details, improving and refining the car, with a view to bringing every part up to the standard of its riding qualities which are said to be exceptional.

Plans call for an output that will greatly exceed that of any single Overland model yet built. To effect these plans and bring the new car into actual factory production has required the complete re-adjustment of the production program of the Willys allied plants.

Since the armistice was signed, factory routine and methods have been simplified; specially designed machinery built and installed for making the new car parts.

WHO WAS THE FAIR UNKNOWN?

Original of Famous Advertising Illustration a Beautiful Girl Who is Still Living

A girl who was famous a few years ago is once more being admired by the American public. She is the "sweetheart of the corn," who has become almost a trademark for Kellogg's toasted corn flakes.

The average person gives little thought to the origin of such illustrations. Not many people realize, for example, that the Kellogg "sweetheart" is a real picture of a real girl. In all the years that this picture has been used, the pose of the girl has seldom changed from that which originally showed her like Ruth in the famous poem. Standing "tall and straight," with a sheaf of corn clasped in her arms, she smiles out at the reader. She is a real American girl, dressed in a simple blue and white gown with her sunbonnet swinging by its strings behind her head. Her eyes look into yours and her smile is one of charming friendliness.

W. K. Kellogg, the veteran food manufacturer of Battle Creek, Mich., selected this picture to typify the wholesome naturalness of his toasted corn flakes. The picture was used exclusively for a few years and then was displaced by other designs. Last year, however, Mr. Kellogg brought the "sweetheart" picture back, and the result shows that public favor once won is always held. The "sweetheart" was at once hailed with delight by the thousands of grocers who handle the Kellogg products, and it is being given principal place in all the Kellogg publicity.

Hundreds of copies of the original "sweetheart" illustrations are to be found in homes throughout the country, for the unaffected girliness of the pose appeals to everyone.

But the big question is: "Who was the original?" For the Kellogg "sweetheart" picture is from an actual photograph of an actual girl—not a professional model, but a real, carefree girl who is shown exactly as she was on the day her photograph was made. Her name will not be divulged by the Kellogg company, but it is said that she is living today not far from Battle Creek, mistress of one of the prettiest of the state.
